To Whom It May Concern

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Ekaksh Goyal, who interned with us at Faculty of Engineering, Teerthankar Mahavir University, Moradabad from 20th May to 14th July 2025.

During the course of the internship, Ekaksh demonstrated commendable initiative, technical skills, and a strong problem-solving mindset. His key contribution was the development and successful presentation of a Brain Tumor Detection Application, which showcased both his innovative thinking and understanding of real-world healthcare challenges. The project involved not just technical development but also thoughtful application of machine learning techniques and user-centric design — all of which Ekaksh handled with maturity and focus.

Ekaksh consistently met deadlines, collaborated well with mentors and peers, and exhibited a proactive attitude throughout the internship. His ability to learn quickly, ask meaningful questions, and independently drive his project forward makes him a standout student.

We believe Ekaksh has great potential to excel in higher education or professional environments, and we wholeheartedly recommend him for future academic or professional opportunities.

Please feel free to contact us if you need any more information.
Sincerely,

Prof. Rakesh Kumar Dwivedi
